

One big happy family!

THE advice to keep things in the family has been taken to the extreme by the Dunfermline Gilbert and Sullivan Society. Because the cast and crew of its current production of "The Mikado" contains no fewer than eight family partnerships.

In addition to the six married couples involved in the society's 25th anniversary production, there are also two brothers and a father-and-daughter team. Chairman Bill Tulloch told the Press that the society had always been a family concern. "It is a fairly natural thing. If somebody is in the cast and we are looking for someone to do something, husbands, wives and parents get pressed into service."

This year David Chadwick, part of the men's chorus, will undoubtedly be giving full attention to the instructions of the show's director - because it is his wife, Anne!

Mr Tulloch, one of the few remaining founder members, added, "Over the 25 years we have been a very, very happy company, and I suppose having families in it always helps."
